Doors on side of structure need to be removed and covered with siding. We'll be using the same type of siding and color as the existing siding. Reasoning for removing doors is to make room in the kitchen

Reason for Alteration/Framing

The reason is to increase space in the kitchen. 258 E Wall st has a very small kitchen with very little cabinet and countertop space. I have included pictures of the inside of the kitchen as well as the exterior of the house. The front exterior of the house is covered with stucco, while the sides and back are covered with pieces of 12 x 24" cement siding. In order to make space in the kitchen we would remove the kitchen door and install the same type of siding to cover it up. After removing the door, We'll be framing a wall in place of where the door used to be using wood 2 x 4s 16" on center with ¾" plywood for the exterior wall. The wall will be insulated using an R-15 3 ½" x 15" insulation. We'll be installing the same type of siding as what is currently on the sides and back of the house. The color will be matched with the current siding as well.
